

There is the woman in the center of the picture. She has a cake on her head. That is so unusual because no one in real life wear a cake instead of a cap. Also, she has sheep like a pet. This fact is unusual because sheeps usual live in village, not in city. Then she holds the packet of products by invisible handles. At least in reality invisible things doesn't exist.

There is the shopwindow in the left of the picture. There are two unusual things. Begin with the bird in the top of the shopwindow. Unusual that bird sit in the pie. This is a violation of the heat treatment of food, since the live bird in the bird pie clearly does not correspond to the finished product. Also shoe at the shell with fresh bread is unusual too. At least shoe is not fresh definitely I think and there is not this place for it. And the signboard with headline text «FRESH CAUGHT DOUGHNUTS». I have a question about it. Where they caught them?

And the right side of this picture. There is the ice scream in the top. It is attached to the ceiling upside down. I think it's possible only if it's glued and the ice scream contain glue too. This is so unusual and actually unhealthy. So, the dog in the bottom of the picture have only one half and it's impossible, I think. Or the other half of the dog is located in some other world, but we just can't see the portal in this world. But it's still so unusual.

And the last unusual thing in this picture is the antenna on the parking payment device. There devices usual not have the antenna because its work with Wi-Fi.